

CITY AND CAMPUS

Richard Barth, a freshman in the College of Arts and Science, will leave tomorrow night for Mexico, Mo., to spend the week-end with his parents.

The University Grange met for the first time this fall, at 8 o'clock last night in the Women's Parlors in Academic Hall.

W. H. Hargrave of the agricultural extension service is in Green County judging stock at the community stock shows.

R. H. Emberson, professor of rural education, is in Knox County organizing Boys' and Girls' Clubs.

The Mississippi Valley Trust Company of St. Louis has offered to Fred Gates a position under D. H. Doane, who has charge of the field work of the farm loan department of the Mississippi Valley Trust Company, and who was formerly state leader of county agents in Columbia. Mr. Gates is a senior in the College of Agriculture. He will begin his new duties in February. The position was formerly held by J. M. Miller, who received an M. A. degree in farm management from the University last year and who will now take charge of the field work for the Mortgage Securities Company in New Orleans.

Dancing Taught for Barware.

Few students in the College of Agriculture will stay away from the annual Barware this year because of their inability to dance. Paul Barnes is conducting a dancing class at Rothwell Gymnasium for the unskilled members. Every afternoon a fresh detachment is taught the mysteries of the one-step and the waltz. Those who show the most proficiency assist in teaching the beginners.

The Women's Athletic Association met last night in the women's gymnasium. A series of parties has been arranged for this semester. The first, a costume party, is to be given in Rothwell Gymnasium October 28.

MRS. G. B. MACFARLANE DIES

Was Formerly Resident of Columbia and Founder of Local D. A. R.

Mrs. George B. Macfarlane, who died in St. Louis yesterday morning, will be buried at Mexico, Mo., tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. Macfarlane had been ill for some time. It is believed her death was due to heart disease contracted last winter.

Mrs. Macfarlane was well known in Columbia, having moved here shortly after the death of her husband, at late Judge George B. Macfarlane, at his death a member of the Missouri supreme court bench. She was one of the most active members of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and for a time was state regent of the organization. She founded the local chapter.

Mrs. Macfarlane was about sixty-five years old. She is survived by two sons, Guy Macfarlane, a St. Louis attorney, and Locke Macfarlane.

Several members of the local D. A. R. will attend the funeral at Mexico tomorrow afternoon.

The following tribute to Mrs. G. B. Macfarlane was written by Mrs. J. E. Thornton.

"In the death of Mrs. Alice O'Rear Macfarlane, Columbia loses a faithful friend. Few women who have made Columbia a home for fifteen or twenty years have been more zealous in their loyalty to the city and interested in its progress."

"Miss Alice O'Rear, the daughter of Tandy O'Rear, a well-known Boone County teacher, was graduated from Christian College. Several of her classmates are now residents of Columbia and recall the close school-day friendships with her."

"Mrs. Macfarlane organized the Columbia Chapter, D. A. R., December 10, 1902, and served as regent for ten years. She was a lineal descendant of Colonel James Wood, James Garland, John Slaven and Frances Bush, all Revolutionary patriots of Virginia. She was also a Colonial Dame, being a descendant of Colonel Michael Woods, of the Virginia Militia, whose duty it was to keep the French and Indians in peaceful order, and of Colonel John Woods, who commanded a regiment under General Braddock and was with George Washington at Fort Duquesne."

"Mrs. Macfarlane was a member of the Daughters of 1812 and assisted in organizing the chapter in Columbia. After closing her career as regent of the Columbia chapter, she was state regent for four years and, at the time of her death, was honorary state regent, state chairman of the committee of decorative art in civic life and national chairman of the committee for prevention of destruction of the flag."

"It is with great sorrow and deep regret that the Columbia Chapter, D. A. R., chronicles the passing of this beloved Daughter."

"No one hears the door that opens, when they pass beyond our call; Soft as loosed leaves of roses, One by one, our loved ones fall."

M. F. FRESHMAN IN ELOPEMENT

Lawrence Meyer Weds Drury College Girl in Kansas City.

Lawrence Meyer, 20 years old, a freshman in the University from Springfield, Mo., was married to Miss Alene Heines, also of Springfield, at the Muehlbach Hotel, in Kansas City, Saturday. McFarland Pickard of Kansas City acted as best man. Meyer returned to Columbia Tuesday morning and will remain in school. He will bring his wife here later.

The wedding was an elopement. Miss Heines, a student in Drury College, returned to her home in Springfield Monday.

Meyer is a Sigma Nu pledge and a member of the freshman football squad.

MRS. F. C. MCBRIDE IS DEAD

Wife of Former Columbia Succumb at Poplar Bluff, Mo.

Mrs. Ruby Duncan McBride, wife of Floyd C. McBride, formerly of Columbia, died last Saturday at Poplar Bluff, Mo., after an illness of one year.

Mrs. McBride had often visited in Columbia, where she was very well and favorably known. She was the daughter of Judge Duncan of Butler County, Mo., and was educated at the Ward-Belmont College, at Nashville, Tenn. She is survived by one daughter, 7 months old, three brothers, two sisters, and her father and mother who reside at Poplar Bluff, Mo.

ADVOCATES LIBRARIES FOR BUSINESS MEN

Purd B. Wright Tells Commercial Club Members of Local Need.

NEEDED AS SCHOOLS

State Backward in Work, He Says—High School Seniors Talk.

"The public library is canned knowledge, and the best can opener I know is ambition," Purd B. Wright, public librarian of Kansas City, declared at the weekly luncheon of the Commercial Club today at the Virginia Grill. Mr. Wright, who is attending the annual meeting of the Missouri Library Association, spoke on "The Benefit of the Public Library to Business Men." He emphasized the importance of public libraries to towns the size of Columbia, showing how they supplied certain needs untouched by other libraries.

"In talking to business men I always use homely illustrations," Mr. Wright said. "I have found from experience that business men will talk about little things, but that they will not speak of big things."

"The business man who fails to use a library on every possible occasion is doing himself an injustice. It shows he does not truly appreciate the real scope of a library. The library of today is not only a depository of wit, humor and literature, but a storehouse of all knowledge as well. The public library is capable of filling all business needs. The advertising man can get the best experience in the world from it, and the man who fails to get such experience is much like the person who sees a dollar lying on the sidewalk and does not pick it up."

"Another important function of the public library becomes evident when we consider that there are ten times as many pupils in the state of Missouri studying in the correspondence schools as there are enrolled in the University of Missouri, Washington University, and the Junior colleges of the state. These correspondence pupils depend entirely upon the libraries for their text books and the libraries must fill this need."

"Only one pupil in fifty-two is graduated from the grade schools, while thirty out of every 100 finish high school. Only four in every 100 are graduated from the universities of this state. The students who do not graduate must depend upon libraries for their education, and it is the duty of the citizens to have their libraries equipped to supply this education. However good the University library is in Columbia, it isn't fair of you Commercial Club members to expect the State to do it all. It cannot supply your children with the books they need. The best investment in the world is in the education of the young people of your community, and there is not a city this size in the state doing what it should in this respect."

Two Columbia High School seniors made brief talks in the interest of the High School annual, the Cressett, at the luncheon. F. Johnson gave reasons why the Commercial Club should support the high school annual, while Miss Nora Montgomery explained how the girls of the school were helping the Cressett staff by raising $50 to defray the expense of publication. J. M. McPherson, superintendent of schools in Columbia, introduced the students and told of the importance of the Cressett.

NEW BUTTONS FOR OLD GUARD

Prizes Offered to Organization and Individuals for Largest Sales.

The Old Guard buttons, which have been worn for many years by University students during the football season as rooters' badges, will take on new forms this year. Heretofore they have been lapel buttons and vest pins, but this year's supply includes tie pins, hat pins, lapel buttons, bar pins and vest pins. They are of silver and have a block M upon them and the date of the school year.

The sale of Old Guard buttons will be under the supervision of George R. Bryant and Edgar Virden, representatives of the Student Council. Prizes will be given to the organization and individuals selling the most buttons. The organization prize is a box of eight seats at the Missouri-Washington game Saturday. Two box seats to the Washington game will be given to the persons not a member of the organization winning the first prize, who makes the highest number of sales.
